

1. Read the article. What does Javier Hernandez Balcazar's nickname mean?

Javier Hernandez Balcazar

Javier Hernandez Balcazar is an athlete. He's a soccer player from Guadalajara in Mexico, but now he plays for Manchester United. He is the first Mexican to play for that team. His father and grandfather are soccer players too, but they don't play any more. His father's nickname is "El Chicharo" (the pea) because his eyes are green. Javier's nickname is "Chicharito" (little pea). Javier always has his nickname and the number fourteen on his soccer uniforms.

Javier is living in the U.K. right now. He speaks very good English. When he isn't playing soccer or training, he relaxes. He spends time with his girlfriend, talks to his family, watches movies, or goes to the mall. He likes to visit other parts of the U.K. but this is sometimes difficult because he plays soccer a lot. He is also studying business administration. What a busy life!
